To Whom it May concern;

I would like to express my support for the U.S. Postal Purple Martin Stamp.

The Purple Martin has been a part of American history since before our great country was settled. American Indians provided nesting compartments in much the same way we do today. The Purple Martin has many supporters in the United States, its only breeding ground, but we could always use more.

The Purple Martin is truly an American bird with its roots in the United States. While migratory, every Purple Martin is born in the U.S., its country of origin. Please develop a stamp to honor this American “citizen”. Thank you.

Sincerely,
